DR. E. O. BARDWELL AND WIFE LEAVES EMPORIUM.

Dr. Bardwell and wife leave to-day for Buffalo, where the Dr. will "hang out his shingle," at No. 1175 Main street, near the High Street Hospital, in order that both himself and wife can have the best medical treatment when needed. Dr. Bardwell being a graduate of Buffalo Medical College, class of 1879, he has many friends there to encourage and assist him in his profession. While their many Cameron county friends dislike to have them leave Emporium, all wish them well in their new home. Professionally Dr. Bardwell had no superiors and will be sadly missed by his patrons, who have had great confidence in his judgment during his practice here of over twenty-five years. During all these years the family have enjoyed the confidence and respect of our citizens and many happy hours have been passed in their company by hosts of their friends. We hope their future may be healthful and happy.

In Poor Health.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Groves will be sorry to learn that the doctor is in poor health and has been obliged to go to Colorado, where he and his wife are now stopping—at Littleton, Col. We hope the change of climate may be beneficial.

Congressman Barclay.

Congressman Chas. F. Barclay, accompanied by his wife, sister Mrs. R. J. Robarts, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Mrs. C. T. Wall, Owego, N. Y., visited in Emporium on Monday, guests at New Warner. They made the trip from Sinnamahoning in the Capt's White Steamer.

Rothfuss—Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Rothfuss, of Williamsport, issue invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Marion Evelin to Mr. Godfrey Woodhead Howard, on Wednesday evening, Aug. 21st, 1907, at St. Luke's Luthern church, Williamsport, Pa. Miss Rothfuss has visited in Emporium and made many admiring friends. The popular young man resided here for several years and was greatly respected for his manly conduct. The PRESS joins in extending the best wishes of many friends for a prosperous and happy journey through life.

Why is it that no one wants to live in the country any more? Cities are full of people who live from "hand to mouth," and whose total wealth is represented by the clothing they have on. Years go by and these persons never have a home. They lose that independence that the proud owner of a farm has. If there is one needed reform it is to keep people on farms and away from cities.—Whitesville News.

It was generally admitted by the New York critics during the long run of "The Girl of the Golden West," that Mr. Belasco alone had succeeded in transposing the atmosphere of Bret Harte's California mining life to the stage, and that the play was an ideal western drama. The characters of The Girl, of Jack Rance, the gambler-sheriff and of Sonora Slim are an unrivaled trio of Amarican types. The play was presented upward of 400 performances at the Belasco Theatre, and will be seen at the local theatre next season.

W. R. C. No. 89 will hold an ice cream social on the lawn of Mrs. James Hamilton, Fifty street, Thursday evening, August 22.

Argument Court.

President Judge, Hon. Harry Alvin Hall and Associate, Hon. John McDonald, held an Argument Court on Monday, transacting considerable business.

The following Attorneys were in attendance: M. Brennan, Jay P. Felt, B. W. Green, J. C. Johuson, Fred A. Johnson, F. D. Leet and J. P McNarney. Visiting attorneys, Eugene Baird, Fred McFarland, Ridgway.

Considerable business was transacted such as motions, etc., of no interest to the public. Of the business of importance we note the following:

John Dixon, who has been confined in county jail, for refusal to support his wife, was dismissed from jail.

Petition in lunacy, asking that a committee be appointed to pass upon the sanity of Dan'l Britton, was granted.

Absolute divorce granted Jos. S. Hunt from his wife, Annie C. Hunt.

Wm. R. Sizer and Wm. McDowell appointed Auditors of Portage Township, to fill vacancy.

Est., of Geo. W. Warner vs L. G. Cook. Argument, Johnson & McNarney for plff., Leet and Baird for defendant. Decision with Court.

Commercial House license, Emporium, transferred from Michael Murphy to Frederick Levecke.

Venire issued for holding court on the fourth Monday of October.

Mrs. Hattie Olson, arrested for aggravated assault, was released upon $3,000 bail for her appearance at next term of court as well as good behavior.

Judson Cooper, who was arrested for shooting Barton Ewing in the Nanny Run row, was fined $5 00 and sentenced to two years in Western Penitentiary. Ewing, who was shot, as well as the two French-Indian women (Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Renn, possibly their correct names) were dismissed.

JUVENILE COURT.

Edward Kilduff, a young lad, aged twelve years, who was arrested last Friday for stealing $24.00 from A. J. Turley's store money drawer and pleaded guilty, was remanded to Morganza Reformatory, he having been released from said institution on parole. This is the lad's third trip to Morganza.

Emporium Young Lady Assaulted.

About 9:30 o'clock Monday evening, while Miss Bell Husted, one of Emporium's highly respected young ladies, was going to the Herdic residence in Plank Road Hollow, she was met by an Italian. His actions aroused the young lady's suspicion and she told him to stand away and let her pass. With this he grabbed her by the throat and threw her to the ground. Being a lady of good physique she grabbed the fiend, who was smaller than she, and hurled him to the ground and made her escape, at the same time screaming for help. The Ike became frightened and ran. Although terribly frightened she was a match for her assailant. It is a great shame she did not have a gun. A number of young men attempted to find the scoundrel but the frightened lady could not give sufficient description to aid the hunt. Too bad that Judge Lynch cannot have a chance at some of the sneaking curs that infest our streets at night. No lady should venture out at night alone, especially in sparcely settled sections, without an escort.

The Devil and the Grafter.

Mr. Clifton R. Wooldridge, of Chicago, a city and government detective, in his great study of crime of eighteen years, making nearly twenty thousand arrests. A man who will not wink at crime for a bribe, to allow a criminal to escape, and in his lectures in churches and schools he stands among the leaders of the nation, on the subject of crimiology.

Clifton R. Wooldridge has written a book, entitled "The Devil and the Grafter." The story of his deeds which will inform and impress the reader.

Smith Whitman is handling the book and is very much impressed with it. He says in his travels of five years, selling the "Pennsylvania Lawyer," he has come in touch with many grafters that wish to know some law. They stand in shady nooks and work and thrive in those shadows.

But the worst of all is the society grafter. These victims are counted by the thousands among honest women who are struggling for an honest living. They set their traps at the door of our homes, as they walk the streets of our towns with polished shoes that hide the cloven foot, as they buy and sell and trade in human honor.

Yours truly,
SMITH WHITMAN.

Has Opened Law Offices at Williamsport.

Don M. Larrabee has resigned his position as Agency Director of The New York Life Insurance Co., in order that he may enter upon the practice of law at Williamsport, Pa. Mr. Larrabee qualified himself for the practice of law by taking a course of study at Allegheny College; from whence he entered the University of Pennsylvania Law School, and after graduating from that institution he was admitted to practice at the Philadelphia Bar as well as before the Supreme Court of Penna. His offices are at No. 10 Elliot Block, Williamsport, Pa.

Pic-Nics Galore.

It will bother the average Sunday School girl and boy to take in all the pic-nics from now until the season closes. Both the M. E. Sunday School and Emmanuel Parish will hold pic-nics on Friday—the former at Keystone Park and the latter at Chadwick school house.

HON. JOHN O. SHEATZ, MAKES FIRST SPEECH OF THE CAMPAIGN.

ADDRESSES BIG MEETING AT BERNVILLE.

TAKES A STRONG POSITION ON THE CAPITOL CASE.

PUNISHMENT FOR EVERY GRAFTER.

Says That the Members of the State Government, and Himself, Are Firm Believers in the Ten Commandments—Much Enthusiasm.

BERNVILLE, August 9.—John O. Sheatz, Republican candidate for State Treasurer, opened his campaign in this, one of the thriving towns in Berks county, last evening, in a speech which demanded punishment of the Capitol grafters. Fully 5,000 persons assembled in Umbenhauer's grove, where Candidate Sheatz opened his address with words of praise for the farmers. He referred to his Lehigh county birth, and there were hundreds on hand from Lehigh to applaud him. He quoted farm statistics showing that there are in the United States 11,000,000 farmers and men who are employed on farms, representing nearly 6,000,000 farms, with a valuation of nearly $21,000,000,000.

"You as farmers," said he, "not only feed all the people of the United States, but could feed the greater part of the world. If all were Republicans you could elect every official from the President down. Unfortunately, about one half follow other political faiths and consequently do not do as well, in that line as they might."

Mr. Sheatz also spoke of the first defenders and lauded Berks county's part in the Civil war, and especially Bernville's young men who went to the front during that period.

TO KEEP IN FRONT.

"With a steady advance in education and good roads," he continued, Pennsylvania will keep on in the front ranks of progressiveness in every line that promotes good citizenship and better government.

"And when I say better government I mean that the rascally business of the clique that built and furnished the State Capitol and profited illegally by that work, of which you and I and the people of Pennsylvania knew nothing, shall be punished—yes, punished to the fullest extent of the law.

"Not only for the wrong they did the taxpayers of the commonwealth, but additional punishment, if it is possible, for holding us up to ridicule in the eyes of our sister States and by dragging the name of our good State in the mud.

"I want to say to you people of Berks county that the Governor and Auditor General, myself and the great majority of citizens of this Commonwealth not only respect and obey the Eigth Commandment, but every one of the Ten Commandments and fear no comparison in that line with any one connected with the political party that intends to drag quotations from the Holy Bible into a political campaign.

HIS PLEDGE TO THE PEOPLE.

"As a Pennsylvanian I come to you as a candidate for the office of State Treasurer. If you believe in me, if you feel that I will be true to the trust I ask you to repose in me, then I hope you will vote for me. Of this you can be absolutely sure, and that is, if elected, I will positively refuse to pay any request or demand upon the State Treasury where the expenditure is not clearly defined by existing laws or when I feel great extravagance exists.

"In the latter case the sooner the press and the public are made aware of this fact the better for our Commonwealth. And when my term of office expires every dollar that should be in the State Treasury will be there."

At the close of his speech there was great applause. A reception followed and Candidate Sheatz was introduced by Attorney Keiser to not only the leading Republicans of Bernville but to the many influential. Democrats of Northern Berks, who were on hand to hear Democratic Congressman Rothermel and Clerk of Quarter Sessions Candidate Samuel Bordner speak.

Taken to Hospital.

Jas. Connors, who has been very ill with heart trouble while stopping at the American Hotel, was taken to the Williamsport Hospital last Thursday, accompanied by Mr. John Edelman.

Mr. Hayes Improves.

Mrs. D. C. Hayes returned from Buffalo Monday evening, after visiting with her husband over Sunday. She reports her husband slightly improved and received encouragement from the attending physician.

Almost Recovered.

August Morrell, who has been at Williamsport Hospital since he was assaulted and cut by an Italian who he had discharged, has returned to Emporium and resumed charge of the construction work for Emporium & Rich Valley R. R. August had a close call.

Bought a Farm.

John R. Montgomery has purchased the Robt. Armstrong farm on West Creek, and expects to move thereon within a few days. Our young friend is tired knocking around in the woods and we wish other young men would see as he does, that the life of a farmer is not only profitable and honorable but an independent life.

Terrible Accident.

During a terrible storm that swept over parts of the country, last Wednesday afternoon, Jas. W. Scott of Farmers Valley, was struck by lightning, instantly killing him. Mr. Scott was forman of Kane's lumber camp. The deceased is survived by a wife and two children, who have the sympathy of a large circle of friends. Funeral services were conducted at the camp on Friday last, the remains being taken to Ripley, N. Y., for burial.

Wm. Hendricks, of Emporium, was the only witness to the awful scene. He was sitting about ten feet from Scott when the bolt struck him.

Genuine Southern Cracker.

J. A. Harper and wife, of Pierson, Fla., are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. J. S. Pye and wife, who live on the Geo. C. Thayer farm, on West Creek. We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Harper, on Tuesday, who is a merchant at Pierson and a very pleasant gentleman. This being Mr. Harper's first visit to Emporium he is having a pleasant time, meeting old friends who have visited in Fla. His wife, formerly Miss Carrie Pye, was a highly respected young lady when she resided here and her friends congratulate her on capturing the wide-awake "Southern Cracker," who is all right.

Energetic Press Representative.

Mr. E. C. Steele, of Parsons, Kansas, the wide-awake Press Representative of the Van Amburg Shows knows how to work up interest in their shows, watches every good idea and catches on. His very gentlemanly and courteous treatment to the representatives of the press, and all persons with whom he came in contact, in our judgment places him in the front rank as a circus press representative—the best we ever met. In fact the head men of each department that we met are gentlemen. The Van Amburg Shows will once more be as popular as it was in the civil war times.

The attendance at this place, last Saturday was the largest known here in years and the unanimous verdict of our people was: "This is a good show; the work of the Japs alone repays the expense, while the elegant horses is a treat to look at. It is an old-time show and we like it." If Van Amburg comes back to Emporium next year friend Steele will have to add an extra half acre to that new tent in order to accommodate the children and ladies alone.

Glycerine Explosion Injures Five Trainmen.

Last Saturday morning, about two o'clock, the trainmen on train No. 98 attempted to remove what they supposed to be a drunken hobo, when the train arrived at Ridgway. The conductor Albert Pierce, took from the pocket of the hobo a bottle of what he supposed was whiskey, and handed it to Engineer Robinson, who allowed it to slip through his fingers, falling against the car, when there was a terrible explosion, the stuff proving to be glycerine. All of the railroad men five in number, were painfully injured. Their names are Albert K. Pierce, Wm. C. Robinson, Jos. D. Krebs, S. J. Snyder and Earl Marsh, the latter being from Mason Hill, this county. He is not seriously injured. Engineer Robinson's injuries proved more serious than at first supposed, his left leg was amputated above the ankle. All the injured men are at Ridgway Hospitrl. The hobo escaped serious injury and is confined in Ridgway jail. It is generally believed that he is a burglar.

A New Cane Rack Lad in Town.

John Hogan, he of cane rack fame, will now have an assistant, a boy having taken possession of his home and proposes having something to say in the future and John will not get in the last word either.

Call at Chas. Diehl's old stand and see what bargaids we offer in ladies and gents shoes. THOS. W. WELSH.

Multum in Parvo.

Almost a Terrible Fire.

About 12:30 yesterday morning Mrs. F. D. Logan was awakened by the smell of smoke and aroused the family. A fire was discovered under the stairway leading to their sleeping apartments. Lucky discovery, in time to save what would have been a destructive fire and possibly loss of lives. Carefully investigate it Mr. Logan.

Military Whist.

Mrs. Frank Shives gave an elaborate porch military whist party yesterday afternoon to a large number of lady friends, there being about forty ladies present. Their large verandas and handsome residence is admirably calculated for large funciions like yesterday. The first military whist party was a success.

Early Morning Wedding.

We are informed Miss Laura Holcomb and Mr. Arthur Kline were united in marriage at the come of the bride, at three a. m., yesterday morning and took Buffalo Flyer for Niagara Falls. Congratulations.

Pic-Nic—Emporium Roasted.

A real social and pleasant time was enjoyed by about one hundred of the people of Rich Valley on Saturday last, at a pic-nic at the Chadwick School House, it being a united Sunday school affair, the Rich Valley and Elk Lick schools joining and the result was a grand success. The table was loaded with good things to eat until it fairly groaned and after every one had feasted to their "hearts content" or their stomach's misery, there was left, as one said enough to feed forty more," and it was not exaggerated. The grounds are famous for such affairs and the trees did double duty, they afforded shade and a large swing was suspended from the swing trees, as two of them are called, and one small swing for the little folks. We wish to thank all who helped us but especially F. J. Lewis for the able assistance he gave us.

The most notable feature of the day was the absence of all loud noise. There was no screaming and yelling which so often is the case, which disturbs the people for a radius of a half a mile or more.

It would be well if the people of Emporium would copy from them. It is a deplorable fact that the people from town will come up the Valley screaming and hollowing. They seem to think that because we live in the country we have no rights whatever, and some of the prominent young people of town do not stop at that but use abscene language and insult the citizens by the vulgar talk. A few Sundays ago even going so far as to drive to the church door and calling to and disturbing and disturbing the ones at worship. If we go to town and get noisy we are locked up, and the first ones who complain of us are the ones who cause us the most annoyance. The people are on the verge of a revolt and if some of this is not stopped they will be dealt with according to law.

THE SENTIMENT OF THE PEOPLE.

Please Return.

Mrs. Lewis Conway requests the person who took the white dove from off the basket of flowers on her husband's grave to return it immediately to the PRESS office.

MRS. LEWIS CONWAY.

Fatal Accident.

Lewis Conway, of this place, son of Mrs. Chas. W. Hall, of Clear Creek, who has been in the employ of the Pennsy R. R., for several years as night conductor in Junction Yard, met with a fatal accident, last Friday night while attending to his duties, being caught between two cars and knocked down, two cars running over his legs and crushing them so fearfully that amputation was useless. He died about mid-night, retaining all his faculties until almost the last. The sad sight, as related to us by eye witnesses, must have been a fearful ordeal. Surrounded by his wife and little children and mother, he embraced and kissed each good bye. Our informant, a great strong man, said the sight was too much for him and he turned away in sadness. He was an industrious man and bore an excellent reputation.

The funeral took place at St. Mark's Catholic Church Monday morning at nine o'clock and was very largely attended.

The following relatives from out of town attended the funeral; Wm. Conway, Albany, N. Y.; Jas, Conway, wife and two daughters, St. Marys; Mrs. Geo. Conway, two sons and daughter, Renovo; Harry Conway and wife, Punxsutawney. Two sisters of Mrs. Conway, of Penfield, arrived too late for the funeral.

Deceased was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Eagles, and Penn'a R. R. Relief Fund, carrying $1,350 in the former and $750 in the Relief.

Methodist Pic-Nic.

The primary children and all baskets from eastern part of town will be taken from the church and from western part of town from the Reading Room at 9 a. m.

There will be an egg hunt, seven prizes will be given to the ones finding most eggs.

If it should be rainy to-morrow morning, picnic will be held Saturday.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Mike Mullenaux, a tramp, was arrested by Chief Mundy on Sunday. He showed fight, but in he went. Chief Mundy don't stand for any bluff.

Western railroad companies are rapidly discharging from their service cheap foreign labor and engaging higher priced, more intelligent, energetic men to do the work which has been done by Greeks, Italians and foreigners of their class. Many hundreds of Greeks and Italians have been discharged recently and it is now practically impossible for them to get employment on any of the Western roads. The companies re-employing Americans and Irishmen so far as possible.

Three Fiends.

The case of Frank Cornella and James and Maggie Lowers was taken up Saturday morning and required the entire day. Cornella was charged by Mary Lowers, aged 13 years, with criminal assault, and James and Maggie Lowers were charged with being accessories. D. J. Driscoll acted as district attorney and Joseph S. Flynn was counsel for the defense. May Lowers said the offense was committed last January and that her father and step-mother held her. In the information first made it appeared that the offense was committed in June and the defendants showed they were working at that time. A number of witnesses were heard and the case did not go to the jury until late in the afternoon. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and the three defendants were each sentenced to 15 years in the Western Penitentiary.—Ridgway Daily Record.

Remarkable Lady.

Mother Hester Skinner, of Clear Creek, in her 81st year, who has been seriously ill for a long time, has rallied again and is now able to read her usual number of papers without the aid of glasses. She is a remarkable lady, well posted upon all the leading questions of the day and abundantly able to hold her own in a political argument.

Billigerents Live at Tamarack. Charged With First Degree Murder.

Lock Haven Express, 12th.

Word reached this city early Sunday morning of a shooting affray that occurred at Cross Fork at about 8 o'clock on Saturday night, whereby Hamilton Myers, a resident of Tamarck, died in the Lock Haven hospital at 11:45 Sunday night as a direct result of bullet wounds. The alleged assailant is Jacob Miller, also of Tamarack. The murdered man is about 26 years of age and is unmarried.

The shooting, it is said, was caused by an ill feeling that had existed between the two men and Meyers was fatally shot in the fight that ensued. Three shots were fired from a revolver, one took effect in the intestines, from which peritonitis developed and subsequently caused death. Another shot took effect in the left arm, and one grazed the arm, making a flesh wound.

As soon as possible the injured man was brought from Cross Fork to the Emergency hospital at Renovo. It required about eight hours to make the trip as it was observed that the patient's condition was grave. On arrival at the hospital there Drs. Rosser and Fullmer gave the man temporary attention and it was readily seen by the physicians that the unfortunate victim had little chance for his life. It was decided to send him to the Lock Haven hospital.

Alderman John P. Anthony was called to the hospital on Sunday and took the ante-mortem statement of the injured man, as he realized that he would not survive. It was brought out that there had been a quarrel early on Saturday morning and that Mayers on his return home from Cross Fork in the evening was met again by Miller when another quarrel was started in which Miller shot the victim as stated above. Mayers defended himself as best he could but had no weapons on his person.

Sheriff J. H. Mussina of this city went to the scene of the murder on Sunday evening to arrest Miller, who was detained their under guard until his arrival. The prisoner is between 45 and 50 years of age.

Jacob Miller, the murderer, was brought this city on the Buffalo flyer this afternoon by Sheriff Mussina and a constable from Cross Fork.

Base Ball.

Well, who said we couldn't win. The boys played a swell game on Saturday when they defeated Johnsonburg 5 to 2. The game was played on the East Ward grounds, on account of our people being in that section, owing to the circus. The game was called at end of seventh inning to allow the visitors to catch the train. Hemphill was on the slab for Emporium and the game he put up convinced the fans that he is again in the best of form. The scoring commenced in the first, when Emporium secured one tally; Johnsonburg counted one in the second on a fly to left field, which Cummings dropped, owing to running against the fence, and their second and last tally came in the third on a wild throw by Eschbaugh, to third base. Fox, Benson, Stohr and Overturf, in the infield all payed a nice game. The feature of the game was a squeeze play pulled off by Fox and Stohl, which was neatly worked. Taking everything into consideration the boys played a very satisfactory game, and we hope they may continue to win at least a majority of the games during the remainder of the season.

Emporium always receives the glad hand in the Paper City. Their gentlemanly conduct and earnest work has won a place in the hearts of fandom here.—Johnsonburg Breeze. Right you are brother. The boys are all gentlemen.

Will be Paid.

NEW YORK, AUGUST 13.—The family of George W. Delamater, the well known Pittsburg politician, who ended his life by suicide last week, will have no difficulty whatever to collect the fortune in life insurance which he left behind. It was reported that after Mr. Delamater's death that policies in his life aggregating nearly $100,000 might be forfeited because of the manner of his death. Inquiries in this city, however, promptly disproved the truth of these reports. At the home office of the New York Life Insurance Company which issued several of the policies held by Mr. Delamater it was said that the full value of the policies will be paid to Mr. Delamater's heirs just as soon as the regular formalities have been completed. There will be different procedure than in cases of natural death where payment on policies invariably is made at the earliest possible moment after the presentation of proper proof.

The New York Life Insurance Company is represented in Cameron county by H. H. Mullin. Call or write him for particulars. Protect your family.

The Picture and the Story.

F. R. Whiteside, sorrowing over the painter's lack of proper appreciation in the Bookman, asks why the painter should be expected to paint a story, saying that although the painter depends upon the writer for his widest publicity, the writer discusses the idea, the meaning of the picture, to the exclusion of the qualities that to the painter are reason for its existence. "When the painter writes about a picture," says Mr. Whiteside, "he speaks of the qualities he sees in it, qualities of selection, form, color and composition, but has little to say about the subject. The average layman frankly admits that he knows nothing about pictures; but he generally qualifies his remark with, 'I know what I like.' And usually that is some picture that he has read about, or that appeals to him through its story-telling qualities. If his interest goes deeper—instead of securing his knowledge at first hand from pictures themselves, he gets a book on 'How to Study Pictures,' written by a man untrained in the painter's art, unfamiliar with his aims, and out of sympathy with his point of view. A writer would be amply justified in vigorously objecting to a painter as a reviewer of his books; a musician would naturally protest against a sculptor as musical critic. The position of the painter is identical."

Dangers Lurking in Cravats.

Girls who gave neckties to men used to get into the joke papers. Now, no more. Since the notion of wearing knit ties came in a few years ago, the mightiest is not too proud to display such handiwork. And in this act is there not a quaint and charming symbolism? The tie, fashioned by innumerable delicate motions of soft fingers, represents in its final form almost a detached part of the lady herself. Mere thread plus her—that is the tie. And this resultant the man, a willing slave, knots around his neck. Might not one almost say that that silken noose, which, minus what her hands have done, would be mere yarn, is indeed her hands? A noose—aye, there's the rub! For if once around one's neck, it is but a step from being caressed to being throttled in the relentless grip of the Superman. Each must decide for himself. As for us, exclaims the editor of Collier's, we are willing to risk it, provided we get the tie. No, this is not fishing. A man used to have to ask his friends to send him knit ties from the other side. Now they may be picked up in every Broadway shop and are become almost vulgar.

Sudden and accidental death on the streets of a city is not an uncommon thing. It may come by way of a brick or stone dropped by a mason from a new building, from a falling sign loosened by the wind, from the wheels of trolley car or automobile, from a runaway horse, from a hundred causes. All men know this risk, yet seldom take special precautions for themselves in connection with it. In curious contrast with the ordinary carelessness is the action of the Wormser brothers, New York bankers, both of whom are now dead, one having passed away recently. It is related of them that when both were alive they were practically inseparable, keeping the same hours and being always together except when going to and from their office. Then they always took separate conveyances so that no accident could meet them both at the same time.

Prince Tokugawa, the ex-shogun of Japan, in May gave a luncheon at his residence in Tokyo to some of the survivors of his supporters at and before the time of the restoration. As most of the surviving samurai were incapacitated by age from attending, only some 20 were present, but the function was exceedingly impressive notwithstanding. The guests recalled with mingled feelings the old days when they were the prince's retainers, and the toasts to the dead heroes who lost their lives for the cause of the shogunate were drunk with an emotion not often seen among Japanese.

NOWHERE IN FAVOR

IMPORTERS PROTEST AGAINST THE GERMAN AGREEMENT.

They Point Out the Mischief That Will Result from Permitting Foreigners to Name Low Export Values and Thereby Escape the Payment of Full Tariff Duties.

Against that portion of the German agreement which compels consuls certifying to the correctness of export invoices and American customs officers who are to pass upon the question of values to accept as "competent evidence" the values placed upon such invoices by local German chambers of commerce the strong protest of the Textile Importers' association is wholly directed. If any doubt as to the grievous error and wrong inflicted by this agreement alike upon the direct importing interests and the wage payers and wage earners of this country remained in the minds of the president of the United States, or the secretary of state who engineered the pernicious dicker, or the secretary of the treasury who acquiesced in its unwholesome provisions, or the newspapers which have accepted the agreement as all right and proper, or any man who would like to see American industry and American business have fair play and a square deal—that doubt upon a reading of the memorial of protest should instantly disappear, and in its place should come a feeling of certainty that on the part of the American negotiators a grossly imprudent and improper thing has been done in permitting foreign manufacturers to fix "export value" and thereby evade in part the payment of tariff duties specified by law.

This is made perfectly evident by the clear and forcible language of the memorial of the Textile Importers' association. The facts and arguments are those of the leading merchants of the United States—men conspicuous the world over for their great business ability, their scrupulous business integrity, and their wide business influence. They are facts and arguments wholly outside of the domain of politics, and they cannot be successfully controverted.

If these men had been consulted and their testimony taken—the identical testimony that is embodied in the grave and dignified protest which is now in the hands of President Roosevelt—fortified by the testimony of our great domestic producing interests, the German agreement could not have been cosummated. Secretary Root, obsessed as he was with the delusion that foreign trade is the one great thing to think of, and Secretary Cortelyou, inexperienced and plastic as he was, with less than 50 days of service at the head of the treasury department, would not have dared to disregard such testimony.

President Roosevelt, had he known what he now knows after reading the importers' memorial, would have used his "big stick" to smash the dicker. Of this we feel sure.

Why, then, was not the testimony of the direct importers and the domestic producers heard on this important matter in advance of the signing of the German agreement.

Why was the report of the commission sent to Germany withheld until after March 4, so that congress could not get hold of it?

Why did the state department, in reply to a resolution of inquiry before the house committee on ways and means, decline to make known any of the provisions of the German agreements?

Why should every American interest have been kept in the dark when the German manufacturing interests were fully advised of what they were going to get?

We cannot answer any of these questions. We do not know for what reason it was thought proper to secretly sacrifice the business of the direct importers, to secretly lower the tariff duties that American labor and industry depended upon for protection, to rob the treasury revenues, and to demoralize the customs administration service by official sanction of dishonesty and fraud.

The great central blunder and injustice of the "export value" provision of the German agreement is made as clear as day in the memorial of the Textile Importers' association. Under its operation the heaviest tariff payers (the direct importing houses) are put out of business, the American manufacturer is subjected to a dishonest competition alike repugnant to the provisions of the tariff law and to good morals; the American wage earner finds his labor undersold through crooked practices, and the American treasury is robbed of no one can tell how many millions of dollars annually. This is what may be gathered from the memorial of protest. And it is absolutely true.

Easily Answered.

The Boston Herald is having some trouble in answering the question, "What is a Republican?" Thus:

"Or take the tariff: Is Gov. Cummins, who demands revision in the interest of the consumer, or Senator Allison, who sneers at such an idea as a 'fad,' a true Republican? Coming to our own state with this paramount issue 'What is a Republican?'—a man who stands for Gov. Guild and Mr. Foss, or one who sides with Gen. Draper and Col. Clarke?"

The process of elimination would aid in solving the riddle. If the Herald strikes out Cummins, Foss and Guild the answer is easy.

HAS TAKEN UP HARD TASK.

Secretary Cortelyou Apparently Aims to Accomplish the Impossible.

"Fortunately Secretary Cortelyou has proved in three government departments that he has the habit of accomplishing what his predecessors pronounced impossible."—N. Y. Mail.

His immediate predecessor at the head of the treasury department supplies an illustration. Secretary Shaw pronounced it impossible to collect the revenues to which the government is entitled, to provide the protection to which domestic labor and capital are entitled and to maintain the honesty and efficiency in the customs service to which the people as a whole are entitled, and at the same time open wide the door to frauds on the revenue, to facilitate the underselling of American producers by foreign exporters under the consignment system, and to the encouragement of wholesale graft and rascality among customs officers. Accordingly, Mr. Shaw refused to sanction the German agreement and resigned from the cabinet. Now, as it appears, Secretary Cortelyou is about to accomplish the impossible. He is going to give away and keep the same market; he is going to smash protection and maintain protection; he is going to promote dishonesty and insure rectitude. He will turn out to be indeed a great man if he shall succeed in these indeavors.

MAKING COMMON CAUSE AGAINST A COMMON ENEMY.

From the Protest of the Textile Importers' association against the German agreement:

"Germany has secured an undue advantage. It is the one for which she has been struggling a long time; it is the one which she has been seeking by every means in her power; it is the one that every American importer who has sought to buy goods in the German market knows that Germany has been working to secure for a number of years; it is the one which Germany has striven for, because she is a consigning and not a selling nation. She prefers to consign her goods to this country, enter them at her "export price," and then compete in this market with direct or purchasing importers and American manufacturers. American merchants know that the advantages lie entirely with Germany under the "export price" feature. As a demonstration, the imports from Germany during 1906 were $136,000,000, largely consigned; a reduction of ten per cent. under the "export price" system would be $13,600,000; if a larger percentage, a corresponding increase. Assuming only a ten per cent. reduction, all our advantage as indicated in the statement issued by the state department is wiped out."

Bad Leaders.

Cutting loose from a safe anchorage with minds distorted by a monstrous ambition, discarding and repudiating the declarations of their party and forgetting its wonderful achievements under this wise national policy, there are to-day Republican leaders who would destroy the great work of McKinley and Dingley, and listening to the clamor of the men who plunged this nation into an era of calamity and depression in 1893, would undo the work of Republican statesmen and try again a policy of free trade, which has at every trial hitherto driven prosperity from the United States.

We care not who these men may be nor what great things they may have done, whether the Republican party follows their advice and elects them to power on such a platform, it writes its own epitaph; repudiates its greatest living principles; destroys the foundation upon which it has built the grandest political organization the world has ever known; undoes the work of half a century of efficient political labor and starts the nation down the declivity of depression, stagnation and disaster, to plunge into the mire of free trade and Democracy, which will speedily obliterate every vestige of the prosperity we now enjoy, bringing the country back again to the dark days, similar to those through which it passed at the close of the Buchanan and Cleveland administrations.—Boone (Mo.) Republican.

Tariff Revision by Treaty.

German exporters under this new arrangement are permitted to fix their own values upon goods shipped to the United States. The goods will be appraised at such figures as the Germans may name and American consuls are expected to accept German appraisals. The Germans can well afford to pay the duty when they are permitted to fix their own value on the goods. By well known tricks of undervaluation they will be able to get their goods into this country on a lesser ad valorem duty and will thus save many millions every year. If France, England and other countries exporting to the United States shall be able to make a similar arrangement the tariff question will lose much of its importance and a tariff for revenue only will have been accomplished by treaty.—Nyack Star.

HUNDREDS OF MEN ARE OUT

STRIKE OF TELEGRAPHERS EXTENDS TO WESTERN CITIES.

Employes of Western Union and Postal Companies Fight for the Closed Shop and Shorter Hours.

Chicago, Ill.—Following the lead of telegraph operators employed by the Western Union Telegraph Co. in Chicago, who struck Thursday night because they were asked to work with non-union men in Los Angeles, telegraphers in nearly a dozen other cities quit work Friday. The 500 men employed by the Postal Telegraph Co. in Chicago who belong to the same local of the Commercial Telegraphers' union as the Western Union men and who declare that their working conditions with the company have become unsatisfactory, took advantage of the situation and quit work in a body last night.

With the strike of the Postal employes, Chicago is left with about 35 commercial telegraphers who are endeavoring to transmit the business of both companies, whereas under normal conditions fully 1,500 men are necessary to do the work in Chicago.

Other Western Union offices which became involved in the trouble Friday, together with the number of men who quit work, are:

Salt Lake City 36, Helena 46, Kansas City 330, Dallas 105, Fort Worth, Tex., 40, Colorado Springs 10, Denver 83, El Paso 15. In New Orleans the men employed by the Postal Telegraph Co. left their keys last night.

Under orders from National President Small, of the telegraphers' organization, National Secretary Russell last night wired to the secretaries of the various locals throughout the country to keep the men at work until further orders. Mr. Russell, in explanation of this action said: "We don't want to use up all our ammunition in one charge."

New York.—The Western Union Telegraph Co. will fight the strike of their operators in the western cities, in the east or wherever the men may go out. They expect to win as they claim to have won in 1883. A strike among the 3,000 operators of Greater New York is imminent.

INDICTMENTS FOR REBATING.

They Are Returned Against Two Oil Companies and an Equal Number of Railroads.

Jamestown, N. Y. — Convictions on all the counts of the indictments returned Friday by the federal grand jury for western New York would render four corporations liable to fines aggregating $18,240,000.

Judge Hazel received the report from the jury's investigations of the government's charges against the Standard Oil Co., the Vacuum Oil Co., the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads of giving and receiving special and illegal concessions on shipments of oil from Olean, N. Y., to points in Vermont.

The report includes the presentation of two indictments against the Standard Oil Co., two against the Vacuum Oil Co., two against the New York Central and Pennsylvania jointly, and two against each of these railroads separately. One of the indictments against each corporation contains 188 counts and the other 40 counts.

The report given is only a partial one, the jury adjourning until September 6, when it will continue its work.

The law provides a penalty of $20,000 for each count in case of conviction. A conviction on each count would render the Standard, Vacuum, New York Central and Pennsylvania liable to fines of $4,560,000 each, or a total of $18,240,000.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

The Usual Midsummer Quiet Is Noted at Many Points—The Leading Industries Are Well Employed.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Jobbing trade in fall and winter goods is active at the leading cities, country merchants being in large attendance and operating freely as a rule. Retail sales of seasonable merchandise are liberal, although at some points customary midsummer quiet is noted. While payments are somewhat irregular, mercantile collections show distinct improvement on the whole.

A few labor disputes are pending, but there is little interruption in the leading industries, most manufacturing plants working full time and holding orders that promise continued activity. Commodity prices are lower, especially in cases where speculative inflation existed, favorable weather having greatly improved crop prospects.

New business in the iron and steel industry is light and some quotations of pig iron are lower, but wire and wire products have become firmer, and many steel mills are sold well into next year. Steel rails are in better demand, a liberal tonnage of new contracts appearing this week, and material is sought by car shops and shipyards.

Strikers Refuse to Arbitrate.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The striking boilermakers of the Pacific division of the Southern Pacific on Friday declined the offer of arbitration submitted by the company. The strike may be extended further east on the Harriman lines.

A Famous Gambler Dies.

Chicago, Ill. — Michael C. McDonald, for years a leading politician and gambler in this city, died Friday. It is said that Mr. McDonald's estate will amount to between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

FIXING OF THE COST

THE FACTORS IN PRICES OF COMMODITIES.

PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION

Equity in Division of Profits to All Engaged in Producing, Manufacturing and Selling.

Were the masses of people better informed as to principles underlying business transactions and commerce in general there would be less cause for complaint as to matters pertaining to buying and selling of commodities.

One of the faults, if it may be so termed, is the inclination of the people to complain about prices they must pay for goods required for domestic and other uses. There can be no doubt but that in many districts retail merchants exact exorbitant prices, this to an extent is the fault of the people who are little acquainted with real values. There are three important things to be considered in the fixing of the selling price of all commodities. These factors are the cost of the raw materials, the expense of manufacturing and the expense of distribution. From commercial transactions neither of these basic elements can be eliminated. The farmer who is the grower of corn, wheat and other cereals that comprises food stuffs, receives compensation for his product in accordance with the laws of supply and demand, and the values that may regulate the monetary markets of the world. The producer of cotton in the southern states, must receive for his product compensation that is based upon the cost of labor, manufacture and what finished articles in the cotton line may bring in the markets of the world. The producer of the raw materials must pay for his labor, and for his investment in farm lands and farm equipment. The manufacturer who buys the raw products must take into consideration the expense of labor, the maintenance of his manufacturing plant, the interest upon the amount invested, and also various other items, and the sum of these with what he can secure for his finished product, regulates the price that he pays for the raw material. In the distribution of goods the middle man plays an important part. He is the go-between the producer of the raw material the manufacturer, and the manufacturer and the consumer. He cannot well be eliminated from commercial transactions. He performs a service that neither the producer of the raw material or the manufacturer can more economically perform. The middle men are the jobbers, the commission agents and the retailers; each performing his special service in the matter of distribution. The consumer is the end of the chain, the final buyer of commodities who utilizes them for his own use and the uses of his family. There should be a margin of profit in each of the different transactions that will allow equitable compensation to each and every one interested in the production of a finished article. All goods have a real value and this value is determined solely by the elements referred to herein. The consumer must expect to contribute his mite towards the support of all engaged in commerce. He is the beginning link, as well as the ending link of every transaction. The farmer who grows wheat, when he forces the grocer from whom he buys his flour to sell the flour at a low rate, indirectly has an influence in lowering the market for the wheat that he produces. When the consumer demands that goods be sold at a price below the cost of production, he invites substitution of inferior goods, adulteration of the articles and encourages a system that is unwholesome.

The people should understand that they never receive something for nothing, or receive anything of value for less than its value unless under some abnormal circumstance. Of late years there has a system grown up of offering great bargains in various kinds of goods by catalogue sent through the mails, and presenting attractive and illusive advertising that goods are being sold at less than cost. The intelligent man or woman will carefully consider all the circumstances relative to such offers, and will be guided accordingly. It is evident that when special bargains are made there are conditions that justify such bargains; that goods are not of standard grade, are stale, or deteriorated in some manner. Also there has a system of offering "free premiums" grown up that is unwholesome, and to an extent an imposition upon the people as the system compels them to pay for articles that are not essential for them to have. The man who buys sugar does not care to be forced under the guise of paying for sugar to pay for a paper of pins or a package of needles, even though these may be a "free premium." It is well to bear these points in mind, and a little study into business economics and principles will be highly advantageous to the one who desires to know about the proper value of goods he must buy.

Care of Shade Trees.

While shade trees are very desirable along sidewalks and roads, unless they are kept well trimmed they become much of a nuisance, preventing evaporation of rains and helping make muddy streets. It is well for citizens of every town to look after the trimming of shade trees, and the planting of shade trees where they are needed.

SCHEMES TO DEFRAUD.

Some of the Plans to Secure Money Without Adequate Compensation.

Plans to secure money from the people without giving adequate returns are numerous. Not alone are the residents of country districts made the victims of schemers, but city people as well are now and then humbugged by shrewd fakirs. Within the past year or two it was announced in the columns of magazines and the farm papers of a seedless apple being evolved. A few months later seedless apple trees were widely advertised from different parts of the country. One concern which started in to operate on an extensive plan organized seedless apple companies in different states of the western country. Within a few months hundreds of thousands of dollars were taken from the pockets of the people for seedless apple trees. These trees were just the ordinary kind, and poor stock at that. So bold were the operations of the seedless apple tree schemers that the secretary of agriculture found it necessary to issue a bulletin warning the people of the fraud, and later the post office department issued fraud orders against those engaged in the nefarious business. There are nurseries located in nearly every state. It is a good plan for the residents of farming and fruit growing districts to carefully investigate concerns selling fruit trees and similar lines before they are given patronage.

A number of petty grafts have lately been worked throughout the country. One of the common ones is the hiring of agents to sell soaps, perfumes and other commodities on the premium plan. The concerns which operate games of this class generally have their headquarters in some large city and through advertising secure the names of people desiring employment as canvassers and agents. To such they send letters holding out extraordinary inducements. Those who agree to act as agents sign a contract which is an agreement to pay for such goods as may be sent to them on consignment. The sample outfits which are forwarded, or the small stock of goods, are billed in such a way as to allow the concern an exorbitant profit. If the agent succeeds in selling the goods and remits promptly there is not likelihood of being any trouble, but generally the goods are so poor in quality that they remain dead stock in the hands of the canvasser, and he will find that the agreement he has signed will hold him to pay for the goods.

One of the humbugs that is perpetrated upon the people of many communities is the selling of stock in cooperative mercantile companies. During the past three or four years the residents of many small towns and agricultural districts have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars, if not millions, through the buying of stock in alleged cooperative establishments in large cities. One company with headquarters in Chicago, doing a mail order business, sold stock in excess of $1,000,000, and when the concern went into the hands of a receiver about a year ago there was not ten per cent. of assets to return to stockholders. Other alleged cooperative deals involve what is termed a profit sharing plan. This plan does not require the purchase of stock, but the cooperative part is purely a scheme devised for the securing of trade.

COSTLY LESSONS IN ECONOMY.

It Is Not Always a Matter of Saving to Buy Cheap Goods.

Almost every rural community has within its confines people who have paid well for experience and have learned costly lessons as to buying of goods.

Not long ago in a western town a citizen desired to buy a kitchen range. A visit to the local hardware store was made and the prices asked by the dealer were not satisfactory to the prospective purchaser, who by the way had his attention attracted by the advertising in his farm paper of "a bargain" in a kitchen range. The range was advertised as equal to those costing "twice the money at the local store." The citizen sent a money order to the concern advertising the range, and in the course of a few weeks he was notified by the railroad agent that the range had arrived. In removing it from the station to the farm house, in some inexplainable way part of it was broken. The broken pieces were taken to the local hardware store but could not be duplicated. A letter was written to the range company and in the course of a few weeks a duplicate of the broken part was received, but it was discovered that it would not fit the stove. It had to be returned and a few weeks later another piece was sent; then the stove was placed in use. Within six months the top had become so warped that it interfered seriously with the drafts. At the end of the year the stove was burned out and ready for the junk heap. The purchaser of the stove then determined that he would secure another range from the home dealer. He paid the home dealer the price he was asked which was about one-third more than the poor range cost, and after a few years the range was found to be as good almost as when first bought.

This is one illustration of how economy wrongfully practiced is expensive. It is not always wise to seek the bargain counters when good articles are wanted. Neither is it a wise idea to buy goods before you have an opportunity to carefully examine them and determine their value.

A HOLY WAR

Is Being Preached in Morocco by Moslems.

MOORS ATTACKED

French Consulate at Casa Blanca and the Custom House was Looted —Many Buildings Burned.

Paris, France.—Special dispatches received here from Tangier represent the situation as being more alarming on the coast and in the interior. Caid Sale, the administrator of customs at Rabat, is said to be openly preaching a holy war among the Mussulmans, as the result of which the French consul has distributed arms to the Europeans.

It is feared that the worst features of the massacre in the Jewish quarter have not yet been related. The stench from decomposing bodies is described as fearful; the air is thick with smoke and filled with flames, while the empty looted houses tell their own tale.

French sailors are guarding the British consulate at Casa Blanca, where the consular agents of the United States, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Sweden have sought refuge. The Italian and Portuguese consuls are at the French consulate.

The European shops were pillaged, but no Europeans were killed.

The state bank at Casa Blanca has been robbed of about $15,000.

The French consulate was attacked by Moors during the night of August 5. One blue jacket of the guard was killed and three were badly wounded.

The custom house at Casa Blanca was looted by natives on Tuesday and many other buildings were set on fire and destroyed.

A sailor of the Du Chayla was killed and four others were wounded.

TELEGRAPHERS STRIKE.

Operators Employed by the Western Union in Chicago Refuse to Handle Messages from Non-Unionists.

Chicago, Ill.—The telegraph operators employed by the Western Union Telegraph Co. in Chicago went on strike last night at 12 o'clock. The trouble was precipitated by the Los Angeles strike, inaugurated Wednesday.

Last night the local executive board of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America met and passed resolutions requesting the men to refrain from working with the Western Union operators at Los Angeles. All operators employed in the overland division of the local office followed this request and Assistant Night Chief Harry Price ordered all who refused to work to leave the office. He then went into other divisions and requested the men to go into the overland division. In every case he was met with a refusal, until over 70 men had been sent home.

The grievance committee of the union notified Mr. Price that unless every man was reinstated by midnight every union man in the office would be called out. This demand was refused and at midnight a whistle was blown and every operator employed in the main office with the exception of six wire and loop chiefs, including Night Manager Price and his two assistants, left their keys and with a round of cheers walked out of the office. The men employed by the company at various morning newspapers had been notified of the contemplated strike and they also quit work.

THE COMPANY YIELDS.

The Southern Railway Agrees to Obey Alabama's Enacted Laws Reducing Passenger and Freight Rates.

Montgomery, Ala. — Gov. Comer and the officials of the Southern railroad reached an agreement late last evening and the license of the railroad in Alabama will be restored.

Beginning September 1 the railroad and its allied lines will put into effect the two and a half cent passenger rate and the law reducing freight rates on 110 commodities. The agreement was not reached without concessions being made by both sides, but in the main it is a victory for the state.

The laws in question will not be put into effect permanently. The agreement declares that their operation is subject to judicial determination as to their constitutionality and reasonableness.

The railroad's counsel agreed that they would ask Judge Jones to modify the restraining orders issued two months ago so as to permit of the immediate operation of the two laws in question. The compromise affects only the Southern Railway Co. The other railroad systems of the state were not parties to the conference.

A Daring Holdup.

New Castle, Pa.—The Baltimore & Ohio station at Ellwood City, 12 miles south of here, was robbed Thursday by two masked men who bound and gagged Agent Wilfred Francis, stole about $200 and escaped.

Williams Is the Nominee.

Jackson, Miss.—The democratic state executive committee on Thursday declared John Sharp Williams the nominee for United States senator, he having 648 majority over Vardaman.

THREATEN TO STRIKE.

TRAINMEN ON EVERY WESTERN ROAD WILL DEMAND HIGHER WAGES.

Strike on the Colorado & Southern Road Results in the Shutdown of Number of Mines.

Denver, Col.—It is not expected that Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the inter-state commerce commission, and Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, will come to Denver in connection with the strike situation on the Colorado & Southern railway. So far no progress towards settlement has been made and the outlook is that the strike may spread.

Grievance committees of employes of the Denver & Rio Grande and other roads are in the city and will demand an additional two cents an hour for yardmen. Every railroad in the west is threatened with a strike.

Sixteen of the larger mines near Trinidad, depending directly on the Colorado & Southern for the handling of their product, closed indefinitely on Wednesday as a result of the switchmen's strike. The shutdown will throw some 3,000 men out of employment.

To prevent the closing of their mines, which would entail a loss of thousands of dollars, and to relieve a threatened coal famine at Central City, ten of Central City's most prominent citizens turned "brakies" and manned a train of fuel destined for that district. They took charge of the freight at Golden, where it had been laid out since the calling of the strike of trainmen on the Colorado & Southern last week.

G. W. DELAMATER SUICIDES.

Man Once Prominent in Republican Politics in Pennsylvania Ends His Career.

Pittsburg, Pa. — George Wallace Delamater, once candidate for governor of Pennsylvania and who served as state senator from Crawford county from 1887 to 1890, committed suicide Wednesday by shooting in his office in this city. Occupants of a neighboring office in the Diamond National Bank building found him dead with a 38-calibre bullet hole in his right temple.

Grief over the death of his father, George B. Delamater, at Meadville, Pa., on May 6, and the sudden death of his son, James Delamater, in June at Connellsville, Pa., is believed to be the cause of his suicide. Members of the family say that Delamater had become morbid with grief of late.

Delamater was connected with the Prudential Life Insurance Co. in this city and leaves a comfortable fortune to his family, being heavily insured.

His family always had taken active part in public affairs and his father had represented the Crawford-Erie district in the state senate. George took an interest in politics early in life. He practiced law only three years. Then he engaged in business, banking principally, the firm being Delamater & Co. In 1876 he became mayor of Meadville, and in 1880 he was a republican presidential elector for Pennsylvania. In 1886 he was elected to the state senate. In 1890 he was nominated for governor, but was defeated.

After his unsuccessful candidacy his bank in Meadville failed. This was caused by losses resulting from his expenditures in the gubernatorial campaign. Other losses were sustained through a railroad enterprise.

WERE HIT BY A FLYER.

Four People in a Carriage Are Killed at a Crossing at Allenhurst, N. J.

Allenhurst, N. J.—Four persons, employes of the Norwood house, were instantly killed last night when their carriage was run down by a Pennsylvania passenger flyer, known as the Bankers' Special, at the Corlies avenue crossing here. They were Thomas Edwards, a driver, and Loretta Grace, Jennie McDonald and Hannah Murphy, waitresses.

The Corlies crossing is just south of the local station of the New York & Long Branch railroad, and the station platform was crowded with summer visitors, who witnessed the accident. Edwards had stopped his team at the crossing, where an excursion train drawn up at the station blocked the road.

As the excursion train drew out, Edwards started his horses and the carriage was squarely on the rails when the flyer, southbound, and the approach of which had been hidden by the oppositely moving special, tore across the roadway. Horses, carriage and occupants were ground to bits, the bodies of Edwards and the women being frightfully mangled.

Twelve People Injured in a Collision.

Rutland, Vt. — Twelve persons were injured, four seriously, and a score or more were badly frightened when a trolley car crashed into an empty car on the Rutland street railway line in this city Wednesday. The cars met head-on as they rounded a sharp curve.

Three People Drowned.

Newton, N. J.—James Johnson, aged 21 years, of Jersey City; Harriet Slinkard, aged 16, of Brooklyn, and Helen Elooner, aged 18, also of Brooklyn, guests at the Hunt home, were drowned while bathing in the lake here Wednesday.

One Killed, 15 Injured.

Swanton, Vt.—Arthur Mulheron was killed and 15 other persons were injured, three seriously, by an explosion of powder in the loading room of the Robin Hood Ammunition Co. here Wednesday.

Two Commandments.

Harrisburg Telegraph.

The absurd self-righteousness of the proposition to conduct the Democratic campaign in the state on the commandment "Thou shalt not steal" has reacted upon those responsibie for the suggestion. The newspapers of the state many of them with Democratic sympathies, are already denouncing that sort of canvass.

As indicated by this newspaper when the matter was first broached, the commandment "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor," is as important and as binding as the other. Any campaign of the Democracy based upon the assumption that the Republican candidate for State Treasurer shall be defeated because of the alleged wrong-doing of others is so preposterous as to work its own defeat.

When the Democratic party or any other party presumes to claim all the virtue and honesty among the people it is time for the truth to be told. When John O. Sheatz was nominated for State Treasurer newspapers of all shades of political belief commended the selection as one worthy to be made, and the career of the Republican candidate is the best answer to the phariseism of his political opponents. It is wrong to steal, but it is just as wrong to bear false witness against one's neighbor.

These two commandments must go together in the campaign which the Democrats propose to wage, and when they by direct charge or inference asasperse the character of John O. Sheatz by urging the eighth commandment, they must expect to hear thundered from the housetops:

"THOU SHALT NOT BEAR FALSE WITNESS AGAINST THY NEIGHBOR."

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys, Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symtoms only. Symtom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have week vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy ever claims to treat the "inside nerves" Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by all dealers.

Those who have stomach trouble, no matter how slight, should give every possible help to the digestive organs, so that the food may be digestive with the least effort. This may be done by taking something that contains natural dijective properties—something like Kodol. For Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Kodol is a preparation of vegetable acids and contains the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It digests what you eat. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c.

Enter "The Toymakers."

The new story by Charles Felton Pidgin which he calls "The Toymakers" and from which he has constructed a musical absurdity with the same title, has material which assures it a long lite. One needs no introduction to this author, as a former work of his, "Quincy Adams Sawyer" has been laughed over in every part of the country and in its damatized form has been called the best New England play ever written." Every one who has seen Mr. Pidgin's new musical absurdity will endorse the judgement that it is destined to equal his former success in popularity which is by way of saying that it ranks with the very best. "The Toymakers" is booked on Monday, Oct. 21, 1907 and will be limited to one night ouly.

The company formed, for its production is called "The Jollities" and is under the management of Charles F. Atkinson and James Thatcher. The catchy and tuneful melodies that abound in this pretty opera would in themselves make a reputation for it and the composers, Charles D. Blake and John A. Bennett, have given Mr. Pidgin's lyrics a worthy setting. The scenes are laid in the shop of an old toymaker in England and the situations are so genuinely funny with such bright and sparkling wit that the interest of the audience is wrought to a high pitch. The impersonation of a mechanical doll by the belle of the village is most amusing and queer complications can be imagined. Everywhere "The Toymakers" has been given, it has received the most cordial reception and its praise as "something new" has been unstinted.

The Story of a Blanket.

Squire Howard, Republican candidate for County Treasurer, missed (?) two blankets from his barn, Monday morning. John W. Norris owned up that he borrowed them while driving home from Austin, about four o'clock in the morning. "Buckey" says it was so cold that he was about frozen, really suffered and knew Chas. was good natured and obliging so he just helped himself to the blankets, and kicked the snow from off his feet and the frozen mustache thawed out as he approached his livery stable, singing,

And when they ask where he hails from,
Our sole reply shall be:
He comes from Sizerville,
Where flows the healthful drink.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
She finds relief and cure?

No reason why any Pennsylvania reader should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Sallie K. Dittling, of 1014 Hemlock St., Harrisburg, Pa., says: "My mother was greatly benefited by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. She suffered for years with kidney complaint and there was an almost constant aching across the small of her back and pain through her body. Frequent attacks of dizziness added to her trouble and the secretions from the kidneys were in a very bad condition. She was treated by a physician but was unable to get relief. Nothing did her any good until we procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for her. Their good effects were noticeable from the start, and after finishing one box there was a decided improvement in every way. She can now rest well and has a much better appetite. We can certainly speak well of Doan's Kidney Pills."

The Mystery OF Carney-Croft

By JOSEPH BROWN COOKE

(Copyright, 1907, by Story-Press Corporation.)

CHAPTER XXI.

An Amphibian Mystery.

My astonishment at this last remark of the Bruce woman was beyond expression, and, grasping her somewhat rudely by the arm, I exclaimed:

"What do you mean by that? Explain yourself at once!"

"You know well enough what I mean, and who I mean, sir," she replied in a whisper, placing her mouth close to my ear as she spoke. "As you love Miss Carney, and as you value her happiness, sir, you must trust me and ask no questions now."

I pondered deeply for a moment before I answered her and then I said in a low tone:

"You are asking a great deal of me, Mrs. Bruce. You must remember that I am Miss Carney's legal adviser and that I am in duty bound to look out for her interests. This thing has gone quite far enough already, and yet matters are growing more and more mysterious. I heard Jenks tell you that I was up on the hill this morning, and I have no wish to deny it, but I saw something there that must be explained at once or I shall notify the authorities; and, for my part, I do not see how it can be explained at all."

"What did you see, sir?" she gasped. as if in great mental distress.

"Well," I replied, slowly, "I saw a number of little graves, or what appeared to be such."

"Oh, my God!" she moaned, covering her face with her hands, "I did not think anything like that could happen! I should have burned them, sir. Oh, why didn't I burn them! It would have been much safer!"

Jenks had slunk into the house, leaving us to ourselves, and I was enabled to talk more freely.

"Look here, woman!" I exclaimed. "What in the name of heaven does all this mean? Speak, or by all that's holy I'll have you in jail before morning!"

My impassioned words had no effect upon her other than to make her weep piteously, and I waited until she had regained her composure somewhat and was able to talk coherently.

"You misjudge me, Mr. Ware," she said. "Indeed you do, sir. I have committed no crime, sir, and I am doing all in my power to prevent one; for it would be a crime if it happened, although the law wouldn't call it so, sir."

She laid her hand on my shoulder respectfully and then, the old-fashioned, motherly way coming over her, she continued in a choking voice:

"You must do as I ask, Mr. Ware. Do not distrust me, I beg of you, sir, for I have so much to bear and I have borne it all so patiently and so willingly, too, sir. Remember, I have no fault to find, and I am glad to have been able to do what I have done, sir, but the end is so near now that I cannot bear to have everything go for nothing at the last."

Her eyes were filled with tears, and, do what I might, I could not doubt her honesty and sincerity. Before I could speak, she went on hurriedly, looking about her in an apprehensive way:

"Just believe in me for a few days, sir, won't you? Do this for your own sake and for Miss Carney's and the other young lady's. You will never regret it, sir, I promise you; I swear it, sir, on everything I hold sacred, and God knows I am a churchwoman and live in fear of Him and His love sir."

For my life I could do no more than she asked, and, after a moment's hesitation, I said slowly:

"I must trust you, Mrs. Bruce, but I must tell you that I do so against my best judgment. I do not see how all these things can be explained satisfactorily and they must be explained soon in every way. Still, I believe that you are sincere in what you tell me, and, for the present at least, I will ask no more questions and rely upon you to fulfill your protestations of good faith when the proper time comes. You will understand, of course, that in spite of this promise I shall feel perfectly free at any time to take such steps in this matter as I may deem necessary, and, while I am willing to let things stand as they are now for a short time, I shall act promptly and effectively if any new or otherwise suspicious circumstances arise."

With these words I turned and walked down the path in the direction of Carney-Croft, leaving her standing by the gate, crying softly.

The next afternoon I took a boat on the river and paddled aimlessly up and down trying to kill time and watching for an opportunity to speak to Miss Carney, whom I had not seen for two days. Miss Weston's condition was growing steadily worse, and the arrival of the nurses from town and their close attention to their patient, coupled with the frequent and anxious visits of the village physician, served as a sufficient excuse for the hurried departure of all of Miss Carney's guests except myself, who remained from a sense of duty as well as a desire to be near at hand and in a position to set myself right with my hostess on the first occasion that offered.

I did not go far from the house, but rowed up and down the stream with no particular objective point in mind and only thinking of what I might do in regard to Mrs. Bruce, and, most of all, how I could hope to again gain Miss Carney's good will, if nothing more, and explain, in the slightest degree, my outrageous behavior.

It is needless to say that I was in no happy frame of mind and, as I allowed the boat to drift slowly down stream with the current, I leaned over the side and peered into the depths of the limpid water on which I was floating.

As I drifted carelessly along in this lazy fashion I finally came to a point opposite that portion of the bank where the ghosts had disappeared so suddenly and mysteriously in the bright moonlight. Up to this time my mind had been free from any thought of this feature of the Carney-Croft puzzle, for the events of the past few days, together with my anxiety to see Miss Carney and right myself in her eyes, were more than enough to occupy my entire attention for the moment.

The realization of my position off the shore, however, served to recall vividly the spectral scene of the summer, and I again began to speculate as to the manner in which the ghost-like figures had managed to disappear from view in such an effectively supernatural way.

While I was pondering over this problem and wondering if I was ever to solve it with any degree of satisfaction, I noticed a slight commotion in the water between me and the shore, such as might have been made by a beaver or a muskrat.

A Man's Head Appeared Above the Surface.

In another moment a man's head appeared above the surface and then, with a wild look at me and my boat, not 20 yards distant, he gave a convulsive sputter and disappeared again with a plunge like that of a porpoise playing under the bow of a ship.

The water was bitterly cold, for it was now near the end of October, and there was a chill in the air which foretold the coming of snow, yet, although I patrolled the spot for nearly half an hour and had a clear view of the river and shore for fully a mile in every direction, the figure did not reappear.

CHAPTER XXII.

An Unexpected Swim.

For a time it seemed to me that the fellow's life must have been lost and that his body had floated down the stream with the current, which increased steadily in force as it neared the falls, some two miles below.

Whence he had come I did not know, for I could not conceive that a man would be swimming in the river at this time of year, and, just as I was about to row ashore and report the affair to those who could institute a proper search for the body, an idea flashed into my head and served to explain the matter in short order.

The ghosts, or at least the men who impersonated them, had always disappeared from sight at this point on the river bank, and, doubtless, they had dived into the water and found shelter somewhere under the shore. If this were the case, a man might easily enough have ventured out from his hiding place, and, upon seeing me, returned and waited until the coast was clear again.

I pulled in close to the shore, and, paddling slowly along under the overhanging bank, I soon discovered a broad flight of stone steps lying entirely beneath the surface of the water, and leading apparently to some sort of a tunnel or cave.

As I made this discovery I had no doubt that the mysterious figure I had seen had emerged from this sunken tunnel, and, upon encountering me, had returned to it with all possible haste. I certainly had no desire to follow him through the submerged entrance to his place of concealment, but I determined to oust him without delay, and leaving my skiff at the boathouse, I returned for a final reconnoiter before summoning a gang of men to dig down from above and lay bare the subterranean vault to which the submerged stairway doubtless led.

Clambering up on the knoll that overlooked this part of the river, I cast my eye in every direction up and down the stream, keeping as close a watch as possible on the entire landscape, and, even sooner than I had expected, I was rewarded by seeing the fellow's head again emerge from the water about 20 feet off shore.

As he shook the drops from his face and glanced about him apprehensively I crouched low down on the ground, back of a brush, and watched him attentively from this point of vantage. His countenance was so distorted with the cold and the water in his eyes that I could not have recognized him even if I had seen him before, and he seemed to swim with great difficulty, doubtless because of the icy chill of the water; but he went bravely about it and struck out manfully for the shore, which he reached in a few sturdy strokes.

As he got into shallow water and made his way to the land, I could see that he was fully dressed, even to his shoes, and that he was shivering violently from the effect of his exertion and the exposure to which he had been subjected.

I was almost on the point of calling out to him and offering him such assistance as I could render lest he should collapse before my eyes, when I discovered that he, himself, had made provision for this contingency.

From under a growth of underbrush he hurriedly extracted a heavy ulster or storm coat, and, taking a flask from one of the pockets, he raised it to his lips and drank long and greedily. This done, he drew the coat nervously about his shaking limbs, and, with a hunted sort of a look in every direction but mine, so that I did not get a view of his face, he ran at top speed along the shore and finally disappeared in the trees at the turn of the river.

It would have been futile to have followed him, and I once more began to look about me before calling for aid and having the cavern, or whatever it was, unroofed. The lawn at this part of the grounds was kept in especially good condition, as it lay almost directly in front of the house, and scattered about it were numerous flower beds and clumps of shrubbery.

In going over this area carefully and systematically as I did, I was not long in finding in the center of a mass of thickly leaved evergreen bushes, a patch of earth that had evidently been disturbed within a few hours. On brushing away the leaves and dirt, which seemed to have been replaced hurriedly, in an awkward attempt to conceal the spot, I came upon an iron grating like the covering to the manhole of a sewer, but with openings which, if they had been clear, would have permitted a certain limited amount of ventilation. This lid was hinged at one side but was not fastened down and I had no great difficulty in lifting it up so that I could peer into the blackness below.

SPAIN FAR BEHIND NATIONS.

Illiteracy Prevails There to a Most Amazing Extent.

Of the 20,000,000 people inhabiting Spain, only about 35 per cent. can read and write; another two and one-half per cent. of the population can read without being able to write, but the remaining 62½ per cent. are absolute illiterates. In the south of Spain it is impossible to get a servant who can read and write, and many of the postmen are unable to tell to whom the letters they carry are addressed. They bring a bundle of letters to a house and the owner looks through them and takes those which are (or which he thinks are) addressed to him. The Spanish postmen are not paid by the state; the recipient of the letters have to remunerate them according to the amount of their correspondence, and each letter costs the addressee at least one cent. It is a joke among the easy-going Spaniards that he who treats the postmen best receives the most letters—whether they are intended for him or not.

THE NEW YORK LIFE'S PROGRAM.

Economy, Publicity and the Paramount Interest of Policyholders.

President Kingsley, of the New York Life Insurance Company, says, in an address to the policyholders, that his plan of administration involves these points:

"First: Strict economy; second, the widest, fairest and fullest publicity; third, the continuance of the New York Life as a world-wide institution; fourth, such an amount of new business under the law as we can secure while practicing intelligent economy, and enforcing the idea that the interest of the policy-holder is paramount."

Close Confinement.

The new phonograph had just arrived, and in her husband's absence, Mrs. Jones thought she would give her parrot a treat, so she set the machine working on a record of "In Old Madrid," sung by Mr. Jones in his best style.

At the very first bar Polly opened her eyes in surprise, and rocked herself to and fro in deep and speechless wonder.

She was evidently thinking deeply, and her excitement was intense. She cocked her head on one side, with an expression that indicated interested conjecture, and irritation at not arriving at a satisfactory conclusion. As the song finished, an idea dawned upon her

"Well," said Mrs. Jones with pride, "what do you think of that, Polly?"

Then the bird found words:

"Great Scot!" she shrieked. "You've got the old man boxed up this time."

Queer Idea of Enjoyment.

Dr. Juliet Severance writes in the Vegetarian Magazine:

"I am often reminded of a clinic case brought before the class when I was in medical college in 1858. The man had gout and rheumatism, both the small and large joints being immovable, and his suffering was severe. Dr. R. T. Trall, professor of theory and practice, was explaining to us the importance of a very strict and abstemious diet. The poor fellow tried vainly to turn his head, and grunted out: 'I can't go that; I want to enjoy life while I do live.'"

Watching the Knife Play.

"There is an awful fascination about seeing people eat with their knives," said he who has just spent a week on the farm for this health, with a retrospective look in his eyes. "A knife is such an unexpected instrument. You never know just where it is going to strike. You can't keep your eyes off. You are afraid to look for fear it might slip and cut the mouth half in two, and you are afraid if you don't look it might happen and you won't get to see it."

SOAKED IN COFFEE

Until Too Stiff to Bend Over.

"When I drank coffee I often had sick headaches, nervousness and biliousness much of the time, but when I went to visit a friend I got in the habit of drinking Postum.

"I gave up coffee entirely and the result has been that I have been entirely relieved of all my stomach and nervous trouble.

"My mother was just the same way. We all drink Postum now, and without coffee in the house for 2 years, we are all well.

"A neighbor of mine, a great coffee drinker, was troubled with pains in her side for years and was an invalid. She was not able to do her work and could not even mend clothes or do anything at all where she would have to bend forward. If she tried to do a little hard work she would get such pains that she would have to lie down for the rest of the day.

"At last I persuaded her to stop drinking coffee and try Postum Food Coffee and she did so and has used Postum ever since; the result has been that she can now do her work, can sit for a whole day and mend and can sew on the machine and she never feels the least bit of pain in her side, in fact, she has got well and it shows coffee was the cause of the whole trouble.

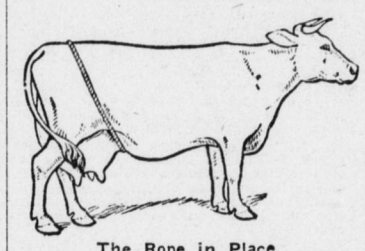
"I could also tell you about several other neighbors who have been cured by quitting coffee and using Postum in its place." "There's a Reason." Look in pkg. for the famous little book "The Road to Wellville."

THE DAIRY

KEEPING A COW FROM KICKING.

How Rope Can Be Adjusted to This End.

In the sketch herewith you will notice a rope which is to be passed over the hip, down in front of the udder, drawn tolerably tight and tied. I have found this to be an excellent method of keeping cows from kicking, and it in no way cuts off the milk supply.



The Rope in Place.

The only objection to such a plan, says Breeders' Gazette, would be that injury might happen to the mammary veins running forward from the udder. These veins remove the blood that comes from the arteries to the udder and have nothing whatever to do with the supply of blood from which milk is elaborated.

GOOD AND POOR COWS.

They Can Be Discovered Only by Methods of Testing.

The establishing of test associations will enable the dairymen to eliminate the unprofitable cows from their herds and help them to get better cows and make half the number do the same or even better work than the whole number of our average cows are doing at the present time.

The milk scale and Babcock test must of necessity come into use. Every farmer should have a milk scale hanging in the barn where it will be handy to weigh each cow's milk, and, by the side of this, a milk sheet with names or numbers of cows, enabling him to keep a daily record of each cow in his herd. There is not more than one in 20 farmers that knows the amount of milk and butter fat each cow in the herd is producing per year. However, now is a good time for every dairyman to begin a more economical production of milk. It costs but very little more to keep a cow that will produce 400 pounds of fat per year than one producing 100 pounds.

The most extravagant thing a dairyman can do is to head his herd with a scrub sire; this is a step back and a continual slide as long as he continues such methods. There is no advancement or grading up without a pure bred, prepotent sire. Improvement comes only through the superior qualities of the male used. Experience in my work shows that cows kept at a good profit to their owner are not allowed out of barn in winter more than one-half to one hour per day in fine weather, and are kept in warm, well-lighted and well ventilated stables. They are watered in stable cold days and fed food of a succulent nature, such as ensilage or mangles, with all the alfalfa or clover hay they will consume without waste, and a balanced grain ration of not less than one pound to every three pounds of milk given.

H. C. SEARLES

DAIRY NOTES.

Three cows without salt produced 55 pounds less milk in a week in an experiment station test.

Only clean tin milk utensils should be used. Patched or rusty tinware should not be tolerated.

When you buy a separator get one that runs easy, washes easy and skims clean and you'll have the best.

Whitewash looks and is mighty nice on the inside of the cow barn and a little salt will make it stick better.

Eastern cowmen practice soiling in summer. They figure green corn or alfalfa fed this way is worth $20 to $25 per acre.

Many a dairyman blames his cows when he ought not to do so. It often quiets his conscience, though, and the cows don't care.

Scoring the Buttermaker.

The officials of the dairy division of the department of agriculture are planning a score card that will not only score butter and cheese but that will score the buttermakers and cheesemakers also. This is a good plan, and the card would do much good if it could be honestly used. Some of the managers of factories would be surprised at the low scoring their manufacturer would receive. It would certainly be a good thing for the dairy schools; for it would show the dairy students ranking high up, as a rule. This would be an object lesson to the boards that control the creameries and cheese factories.

Room for Improvement.

The "average" dairyman is a very poor dairyman in the true sense of the word, yet a comparison of the methods in use to-day with those of even ten years ago is quite complimentary to this same "average" dairyman. There's abundant room for improvement yet, however.

THE FALL COW.

She Will Make Winter Dairying Profitable.

If every farmer who follows the practice of having the cows drop their calves in the spring could thoroughly understand the comparative advantage of winter dairying he would be pretty apt to change his plans. The average cow produces little more than 150 pounds of butter in a year. It is safe to say that this same cow can be made to produce 200 pounds of butter per year through winter dairying entirely.

The cow that drops her calf about May 1 has only about two months of good pasturage ahead before the hot weather comes and the flies begin to pester her. Those two months she will do exceedingly well but they are the two months of the year when dairy products are at the lowest prices. During the season of dry pasture and flies her milk flow will diminish to such an extent that it is impossible to make her give a good flow during even the early winter months.

The cow that drops her calf about November 1 or December 1 has been dry during the time of shortest pastures and during the busiest season of the year on the farm. She has a long period of usefulness ahead of her before fly time the following season. She will be doing her very best while prices for dairy products are highest and while the time of her owner is not so expensive. By the time grass comes she will have reached a period in her lactation when a decrease in the milk flow is to be expected, but will give a good flow as soon as she gets on grass anyway. She will be ready to take her rest when the season is most unfavorable for milk production.

In addition to these facts there is another very potent reason why the cows should freshen in the fall. The young calf will not require very much grain feed the first six months and is old enough to thrive in the pasture the following season and to fight its own battle during fly season. The result is a yearling calf at a very small cost.

It is true that it will cost perhaps five or six dollars more per year to feed the winter dairy cow, but if it does the increase in receipts will be more than double that amount.

CLEAN CREAMERIES.

There Are a Few of Them But Many Are Dirty.

Some time ago I had the pleasure of taking a trip to visit a number of creameries in the county in which I live. As a result of that visit I came to the conclusion that there are many very dirty creameries and also many very clean ones. I could but wish that the people that buy the butter and buttermilk from the two kinds of creameries knew the difference between them, says a writer in Farmers' Review. If they did I am sure that the dirty creameries would all shut their doors and go out of business, while the other creameries would have all the business. If we could get a publicity of that kind it would be a powerful lever for lifting up the quality of our butter and other dairy products.

The dirty creameries were, wide open to the flies and dust. Old milk and dirt were spattered all over the floor. The churns smelled strong, and some of the utensils smelled as if they had not been thoroughly washed out for a long time. The clean creameries had cement floors, and the doors and windows were all screened. The untensils all smelled as clean as if bran new. It is a pleasure to think of eating butter coming from such creameries.

YOKING A FENCE JUMPER.

Device Which Will Check the Worst Case Known.

The Yoke.

Snakebite Cure.

A Callaway county, Mo., farmer says he found his cow suffering from a snakebite on the neck, and cured it by applying a poultice of soft soap and gunpowder. He tells of a boy who was also cured of a bite from a copperhead snake by this method. It is claimed to be as good as whisky for snakebite.

TIRED BACKS.

The kidneys have a great work to do in keeping the blood pure. When they get out of order it causes backache, headaches, dizziness languor and distressing urinary troubles. Keep the kidneys well and all these sufferings will be saved you. Mrs. S.A. Moore, proprietor of a restaurant at Waterville, Mo., says: "Before using Doan's Kidney Pills I suffered everything from kidney troubles for a year and a half. I had pain in the back and head, and almost continuous in the loins and felt weary all the time. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills brought great relief, and I kept on taking them until in a short time I was cured. I think Doan's Kidney Pills are wonderful."

The Advantage of Reading.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the weary hobo as he stood at the farmhouse door, "but might I sleep in your barn to-night? I haven't had a roof over my head for ten days."

"I congratulate you," said the kind-hearted farmer. "That is a splendid thing. I have just read in one of my ten-cent magazines that it is not too much to say that to the delicate, highly-strung, nervously-knocked-up individual the advantages of sleeping in the open air are enormous. Pallid cheeks take on a ruddy hue, colds are unknown, headaches are forgotten, and irritability becomes a phase of the past. A small plot and a little perseverence are the only necessaries and the result is assured. You are very welcome to the use of my potato patch, and my sky is at your disposal."—Judge.

The Tell Tale Voice.

"If you want to tell whether or not the man you are talking to is telling the truth don't look him in the eyes," said a Denver bank teller to some friends. "It is the voice, when you don't look at the eyes, that tells you whether the other fellow is lying. We use the system frequently in the bank. A man will come in to tell us some business tale. We look at his feet or his hands or his knees, but never in his eyes. If he's telling the truth his voice will be firm and straightforward, and the absence of your gaze in his eyes will not affect it. But if he's lying he'll be confused by your action, and his voice will tremble; he'll hem and haw, and clear his throat. You may rest assured then that he's stringing you."

Always in the Way.

Recently a country doctor in the north of Ireland, a bachelor, who was locally noted for his brusqueness and irascibility, was driving along a narrow lane, or "boreen," when his passage was effectually barred by an old woman, who was returning from the bog leading an ass whose panniers were filled with peats. The woman led the ass to the side of the lane as quickly as she could, but not quickly enough to please the short-tempered doctor. "Faugh!" he exclaimed, with a snort of disgust. "Women and asses are always in the way." "I'm glad ye have the manners to put yourself last," said the old woman, calmly. The doctor drove on without another word.

Concerning His Business.

A Boston lawyer, who brought his wit from his native Dublin, while cross-examining the plaintiff in a divorce trial, brought forth the following:

"You wish to divorce this woman because she drinks?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you drink yourself?"

"That's my business!"—angrily.

Whereupon the unmoved lawyer asked:

"Have you any other business?"—Everybody's.

Grape-Nuts

"America has become a land of nervous emotionalists, largely owing to our sins against the dietetic health laws of nature.

"Only outdoor exercise in a cold climate would enable vigorous individuals of our species to digest the viands forced upon alimentary organs enfeebled by sedentary occupations," wrote Dr. Felix Oswald.

Brain workers must have different food than laborers, because brain work uses up parts of the brain and nerve centers, while physical labor uses up other parts of the body.

Grape-Nuts, a food for brain workers, prepared by scientific food makers, is a pure, natural food made from selected parts of field grains known to contain the natural phosphate of potash and other elements required by the system in rebuilding and repairing the brain and nerve centers. This food is skillfully cooked at the factory and is ready to be served instantly with cream. At all first-class grocers and made by the Postum Co., at Battle Creek, Mich. THE ELECTRICAL WORLD

PHOTOGRAPHING LIGHTNING.

Fascinating Pastime for the Thunder Storm Season.

The season of thunder storms is with us, and anyone with a camera will find the photographing of lightning both instructive and fascinating. Some excellent suggestions are made by Dr. Lockyer in the Photographic Journal, London. He divides ordinary lightning into four general classes: Stream, sinuous, ramified and meandering.

The photographing of lightning is a simple matter. The lens should be focused during the day upon a distant object, or at night on a distant lamp, and the baseboard marked if necessary, so that the lens can be set for infinity at a moment's notice when required. A dark night is best for the purpose, and, when the thunder clouds are seen to be gathering, the camera with the plate should be placed in position, being directed to the point where the flash is expected, the slide drawn, the lens uncapped, and the instrument allowed to remain until a flash has occurred.

Occasionally one flash will follow another and show double on the plate, producing a "ribbon" or "band" flash. This is caused by the second flash following the same heated column of air, after the wind has shifted the air column. Lightning may be photographed in the daytime by using an extremely deep yellow screen. The camera should not be moved during the flash; holding it in the hands will not yield perfect results; it must be rigid.

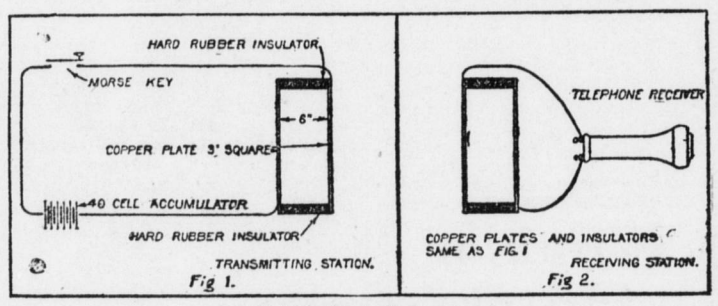
Thunder travels one mile in about four or five seconds; by counting the seconds between the flash and the report, the distance can be fairly estimated. Some flashes descend from the cloud to the earth, and others ascend from earth to cloud. When both ends of the flash are included in the photograph it is a simple matter to trace the course. This method can only be used when the flashes are ramified. A ramified flash resembles a river with its tributaries, but the current travels in the reverse direction to the river flow; the lightning commences at the estuary end of the main trunk and breaks up into ramifications as it proceeds, so that when two images of a multiple flash are on the plate and the ramifications of one point towards the earth, and of the other towards the sky, it might be assumed that they traveled in opposite directions.

NOVEL WIRELESS SYSTEM.

Simple Apparatus by Which Messages May be Sent Short Distances.

The illustrations will make plain a simple and inexpensive apparatus for wireless telegraphy by which I have had no difficulty in sending messages across one and one-half miles of water surface, declares a correspondent of Popular Mechanics. It is so simple that the cuts scarcely need explanation. In Fig. 1 is seen the sending apparatus, consisting of a 40-cell battery connected with two copper plates 36 by 36 by one-eighth inch. The plates are separated six inches by a piece of hard rubber at each end.

In Fig. 2 are seen duplicates of these insulated plates, connected with an ordinary telephone receiver. With this receiver I can hear distinctly the electric signals made by closing and opening the Morse key in Fig. 1 and I believe that in a short time I shall be able to perfect this system so as to send wireless messages long distances.



Making Plan of System.

A LESSON IN HOUSE LIGHTING.

Light fixtures are too often placed without proper consideration of what the results will be. The Illuminating Engineer gives an excellent object lesson in the above illustrations which show the advantage of a properly placed side bracket, and the difference of working while standing so as to cast a shadow on one's work.

Boats Wrecked by Knives.

The loss of many English fishing boats is now believed to have been due to the fact that the man at the wheel carried in his pocket a specially forged fisherman's knife. These knives possess strong magnetic properties sufficient to deflect the compass needle two or three points. Many wrecks have occurred while steering an apparently true course, and the discovery of the knives is now believed to account for many wrecks.

Aluminium by New Process.

According to the Ironmonger, Mr. E. L. Rinmann, of the University of Upsala, claims to have discovered a new process for the electrical extraction of aluminium from blue clay, by which the cost of production is reduced to about one-quarter of the present rate.

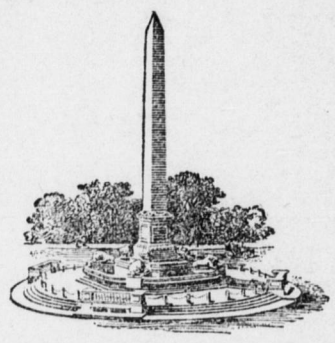
M'KINLEY MONUMENT

To Be Dedicated in Buffalo Sept. 5. Former Residents Invited.

The beautiful white marble shaft erected by the state of New York in Niagara Square, Buffalo, N. Y., to the memory of President McKinley, is to be formally dedicated Thursday, Sept. 5, and the event will be the central feature of Buffalo's Old Home Week, Sept. 1 to 7. Former residents of Buffalo and the public at large are cordially invited to attend the dedication.



The McKinley monument was planned and executed under the direction of a commission of prominent men, at a cost of $150,000. Gov. Charles E. Hughes, with his military staff, will take part in the ceremonies and President Roosevelt and former President Grover Cleveland have been invited to attend and speak. Military parades will be a feature of the occasion.

MONDAY UNIVERSAL WASH DAY.

Recognized as Such Over Almost All the World.

Why does nearly all the civilized world wash clothes on Monday? What has Monday to do with washing? It was originally the moon's day and was sacred to the queen of night. I read in a schoolboy's history that the Pilgrims landed on Monday and the good women immediately set about washing the clothes that had been soiled on the trip over. We might judge from that alleged fact that no washing was done aboard ship; yet the finest place for such necessary work of sanitation and blessedness is out at sea where there is plenty of water and nearly always a drying wind.

The voyage of the little Mayflower lasted 63 days, I believe, and as nearly as we can now reckon the landing was made at Plymouth Rock on a Monday, though some historians insist on Friday. It must have been a vile and filthy vessel on arrival, with 102 passengers and crew going over two months without washing their linen. Linen? What did they wear in 1620? Can you realize how big was the Mayflower? A miserable little bark of 160 tons (Capt. John Smith) or 180 tons (according to Bradford).

FEARFUL BURNING SORES.

Boy in Misery 12 Years—Eczema in Rough Scales, Itching and Inflamed—Cured by Cuticura.

"Cuticura has put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my son. As an infant I noticed on his body a red spot and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of his body. During the day it would get rough and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching. One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave it up. I decided to give Cuticura a trial. When I had used the first box of Cuticura Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Remedies my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 7 Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16, 1905."

A Little Debt for Husband.

A four-year-old tot invited three older playmates into an ice cream saloon, where she magnificently ordered four plates of cream. When the delectable food had been eaten she calmly proceeded to walk out of the place without paying for it. The proprietor stopped her. Looking up into his face in the most innocent manner in the world, she lisped:

"I ain't got any money, sir. I'll pay you when I'm married."

Elsie is a laundress of color. She is well past youth, wears a parennial smile and sports a single front tooth of much prominence. Recently she missed one of her visits to a patron, and when she next put in an appearance she was suffering from a bad cold. When asked how she took such a serious cold she said:

"During the recent festivities our club gave a ball. The gentleman what's paying attention to me is very particular, so I had to go in full evening dress, and I had to leave off a few pieces, and it got me."

The dry weather is hard on the fish in the First Fork. The refuse from the pulp mill is driving them to fresh water and they are dying by the thousands. It is all right for the corporations to destroy the fish, but let a lone fisherman catch one out of season, and the fish warden is after him like a fish hawk, that is if he thinks he can bleed him for a ten. There are plenty of fish in First Fork but they cannot be used until they have been flushed in fresh water for some time.

The farmers up the First Fork will have to get rid of all their cows, but one apiece, or else fence up all the state lands, for the forrestry officer forbids cattle trespassing on state lands and the state will not build any fences. So the farmers will have to give up raising any stock.

C. W. Williams, tax collector of Gibson township, was a pleasant caller in town Monday, it being the twelfth day of authorized collection. Mr. Williams informs us that he has three-fourths of the duplicate already collected and paid over. As the total amount to be collected is nearly $4,200, this is an excellent showing for Mr. Williams and this is the seventh term he has served as collector for this township. We consider this record will compare favorably with any collectors in the state if not in the United States. This should serve in a measure to put a stop to the rumors that have been circulating around the county of late, reflecting on Mr. Williams' character and morals and he wishes to say that his conduct at all times is in keeping with the above excellent record, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding.
